Soviet Pours Tons Of Goods Into Cuba

MIAMI (UPI) — The Russians poured thousands of tons of goods into Cuba today to meet growing shortages.

An official broadcast monitored in Miami said at least three Communist shipments to their Cuban allies have reached Havana docks in the past 24 hours. No war materiel was mentioned—presumably any mention of such would be censored—but the broadcast referred to oil, trucks, tractors, jeeps and "industrial equipment" among the items received in quantity.

"Interrogate" Prisoners
Largest of the three shipments was 30,000 tons landed at Havana today from the "socialist countries," the government broadcast said. The cargo ranged from foodstuffs to raw materials to textiles.

Havana television panelists spent nearly an hour today interrogating a purported priest who said Castro's revolution "fulfills the social doctrine of Jesus Christ."

The prisoner, who identified himself as Roman Catholic Father Segundo Las Heras Cabo, said on a radio-TV broadcast he parachuted into Cuba with last week's invaders only because American instructors deceived him. He said he was kept a virtual prisoner in an American-run training camp in Guatemala.

"I repent and beg the people of Cuba to accept my repentance," he said. "All I ask is that they give me an opportunity to mend my ways."

The prisoner appeared on the third night of grilling of prisoners on the Cuba-wide radio-TV network.

Becomes Show Trial
The pretense that the prisoners were being questioned by a press panel was virtually abandoned, and the program took on more and more of the atmosphere of a Communist "show trial."

Panelists pumped questions at prisoners in the manner of prosecuting attorneys and even called "witnesses." They regularly embarked on long speeches extolling Castro and Russia and lambasting the United States.

The program, with the participants including a hysterical woman, a ranting man, and another man who threatened to stab a prisoner before the cameras, contributed to the ominous atmosphere in Cuba.

Warm Today, Cold On Way
A fourth hot, sunny day forecast for today and now being enjoyed by Lower Bucks County residents was explained by the local weatherman as "part of the Bermuda high system" resting at a standstill in this area.

Says the weatherman: "But you'd better enjoy it now, because a cold front will be moving in by Thursday!"

That's the weather word from George Whiteley Jr., weather forecaster for the Trenton Weather Bureau, which forecasts for the Lower Bucks County area.

This followed word from the weatherman that today's high temperature would rise to 75 or 80 degrees, following yesterday's high of 82, Sunday's high of 69, and Saturday's high of 71 degrees. The outlook includes partly cloudy today, with shower or thunder showers likely tonight.

Slow Moving
"Lower Bucks County is in the warm sector of a system that is very slow moving," Whiteley explained. He predicts a low tonight of 50 degrees and tomorrow will be cloudy with occasional showers, but with a high temperature near 70 degrees.

"By Thursday," Whiteley said, "it'll be quite a bit cooler, and probably rather miserable, after such a warm spell." He explained that a cold, rainy system is moving in from northern Pennsylvania and southern New York State, due to arrive here about Thursday.

Be careful.

One-Two-Tree-Fore In 82 Weather

"Recess" may be the favorite subject for a lot of her pupils, but when Spring comes a-calling as it did yesterday, Mrs. Matti Myers, substitute teacher for Bensalem Elementary Schools, can't help getting the urge to match scores with the outside temperature of 82 in a little private recess of her own.

Quarry Hill Elementary No One Injured In School Fire

Some 290 students were safely evacuated from the Quarry Hill Elementary School, Yardley, after two tar tanks exploded at about 1:10 p.m. today on the site of a new addition being built directly behind the school.

According to Dr. Charles S. Muschell, regional superintendent of the Pennsylvania Schools, "the children were safely evacuated and there was no damage to the school or the addition."

However, he said an investigation is being conducted into the cause of the explosion.

According to a spokesman at the school, the "huge" explosion sent flames and black smoke high into the air.

The student body immediately evacuated the building, following general fire drill procedure and going to a site across the street from the school.

No injuries were reported, according to the school officials. (Continued on Page 3, Col. 6)

CD Interest Up In Florida

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (UPI)—The situation in Fidel Castro's Cuba has caused a sudden surge of public interest in civil defense in Florida, state civil defense director Hiram Tarkington said today.

"There is more interest at local government levels than there has been in years past," Tarkington said in reviewing Florida's plans for a nationwide mock alert tomorrow.

With Cuba only 90 miles away, he said, "our back door is open."

Bucks Polio Clinics Called Inadequate

The Bucks County Women's Democratic Club last night labeled as inadequate the county's polio clinic program.

Mrs. Norma Shaw, chairman of the club's health and welfare committee, said that the three-clinic polio program announced by Dr. William J. Meyer, director of the Bucks County Health Department, could not adequately serve the county. She added that the club would contact Dr. Meyer and interested groups in order to set up a meeting to discuss a more widespread program.

The three polio clinics sponsored by the county health department will be located at 143 South 11th St., Quakertown; the Doylestown Borough School Building, Court and Broad Sts., Doylestown; and

Premier Warns Paris

PARIS (UPI) — Insurgent paratroopers withdrew suddenly from two of Algeria's three key cities today. French government sources warned their redeployment could be a prelude to a civil war invasion attempt against France itself.

The mysterious withdrawal of the paratroopers from Oran and Constantine climaxed a day of fast-moving events in which Premier Michel Debre warned that the insurgents' aim was to take over the heart of Paris itself, by force if necessary.

As news of the paratroopers' move became known, the French Mediterranean fleet was steaming

U.S. Could 'Be Concerned'

WASHINGTON UPI — The United States would become "directly concerned" if the Algerian insurrection spread beyond Algeria itself, the State Department said today.

Privately, high U.S. officials said they were consulting with France on what to do if the anti-De Gaulle French forces mounted an attack on bases in neighboring Tunisia or Morocco.

out of its Toulon base on a mysterious mission of its own. It was believed headed for Algeria.

Meanwhile, loyal naval forces beat back an attempt by insurgent paratroopers to seize the big Algerian naval base at Mers el Kebir today. A light cruiser standing off the base near the rebel stronghold of Oran fired the first salvoes in France's plunge towards civil war.

The incident was disclosed, without details, by Premier Michel Debre in a speech to Parliament this afternoon.

Kennedy Offers U.S. Help

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Kennedy told French President Charles de Gaulle that the United States stood ready to provide any assistance which he deemed advisable or necessary in the current Algerian crisis, the White House said today.

chiel Debre in a speech to Parliament this afternoon.

"The navy," he announced without elaboration, "has fired to slow up the entry of insurgent troops into Mers el Kebir."

His announcement followed earlier unofficial reports that the cruiser had fired "warning" shots in the direction of the paratroopers. How the paratroopers moved against the base, which lies four miles from Oran in western Algeria, was not revealed. Neither were their numbers. But there were reports the paratroopers were opposed in their attempt by French marines.

Fleet Leaves Toulon
The Mediterranean squadron of the French fleet sailed from Toulon at 4 p.m. (10 a.m. EST) today, the Navy Ministry announced. No details of its strength or destination were given.

Debre told Parliament that, despite disclaimers by the numerous generals controlling Algiers and the cities of Oran and Constantine, one of their objects "was and without doubt still is... to occupy the heart of Paris."

To safeguard the nation, the premier told Parliament, measures of "extreme gravity" must Economists say that a prime key to our national prosperity is the automobile industry. When automobile sales are up, things are good; when they're down, things are rough.

If that is so, what does the automobile industry indicate for Lower Bucks County? Are we pulling out of the mid-winter slump or not?

Lower Bucks has no automobile manufacturing or assembly plant. However, conclusions can be drawn from new car sales.

For almost every major American make, March sales of new cars in Lower Bucks were up, well above the expected seasonal increase that comes with the first promise of spring.

New car sales mean, in most cases, bank financing, and bankers use them as one index to the picture of general economic conditions. Another vital clue for the bankers lies in the number of loans they grant for new construction.

Listen to Thomas E. Coe, Jr., vice president of Central Penn and in charge of its Lower Bucks facilities:

"We've had the best year for a long time in construction loans. Apparently new building in Lower Bucks will be well ahead of average; indeed, well head of the national outlook."

Housing Development

This is despite a cool, wet spring, particularly the first half of April, which has delayed construction considerably, he said.

The Hyman Korman firm of Philadelphia recently purchased the Buehl Airport, at Street and Hulmeville Roads in Bensalem Township, for a housing development and a new shopping center.

The organization isn't ready to announce the starting date for the project yet but plans are on the drafting boards, according to a spokesman. Korman, one of the biggest builders in Philadelphia's northern areas, expects to put up several hundred homes on the old runways and his construction will be a strong shot in the arm as well as verification of Coe's predictions.

John Catzin, Coe's counterpart at Fidelity-Philadelphia, agrees with Coe.

"The building supply industry is better than it normally would be," he says. "The suppliers and

Fighting To Stop Immediately Both Sides Agree To Truce In Laos

LONDON UPI — Both sides in the war in Laos today accepted the British-Soviet appeal for a cease-fire.

The British Foreign Office announced that the royal Laotian government formally accepted the call for a cease-fire.

In Moscow, the official Soviet news agency Tass reported that the Communist-backed Pathet Lao also agreed to stop the fighting immediately.

Tass said Prince Souphanouvong, the so-called Red Prince who is political leader of the Pathet Lao rebels, "will order (his) armed forces to cease fire throughout the country."

The agency said Souphanouvong "warmly acclaims" the cease-fire appeal and the call for a 14-nation conference to work out the future of Laos.

British officials expressed hope that the cease-fire would be put into effect within the next few days.

There was some doubt whether front line forces had received the word because of poor communications. At last report, the struggle between the pro-Western government troops and Communist-backed Pathet Lao guerrillas apparently was going full force.

contractors are much more confident than they were last spring.

Retail business, he says, is up 10 per cent already from a year ago. Retailers in general agree with him.

Crawford Schafer, manager of Union Supply in Fairless Hills, reports, "From here on in, I'm very optimistic about the retail business. Furniture and men's clothes are moving slowly but overall our business is better than a year ago and much better than January and February sales of this year, which were down."

Easter "Best Yet"

Easter business at Pomeroy's, according to A. C. Willensen, manager, was the "best yet far." Leon Plavin, president of Bristol's Mill Street Businessmen, says, "There is a pickup. We've had surprisingly good business on all our sales promotions."

Newer and bigger retail promotions are being planned for late spring and early summer, such as U.S. Steel's Steelmark Days, June 1, 2 and 3. Everyone is confident.

One of the most confident is Gordon Exley 3rd, executive director of the Bucks County Industrial Development Corp.

Exley doesn't have anything definite in the way of new factories to announce right now. But he expects to very soon.

Hard, Happy Work

"The hesitation that has marked the last nine months has gone and we expect to firm up a lot of plans for Lower Bucks in the immediate future," he said. "I'm looking forward to a long year of hard but happy work."

"We did have a recession that could have turned the other way," he said, "but it didn't; it turned up."

He mentioned President Kennedy's proposed tax reduction for industrial expansion as an incentive that could make itself felt in Lower Bucks within the next year.

C. Burnley White of the F. A. Simons building supplies firm in Cornwells Heights, hasn't seen too much of an upswing as yet but is looking forward eagerly to one.

Half Mile Apart

White points out that in Lower Bucks the main trunk line of the Pennsylvania Railroad, the new Delaware Expressway and the navigable channel of the Delaware River will be within half a mile of each other.

"The new expressway in particular will stimulate business around here," he said. "It will mean more suburban homes with easy access to central Philadelphia and new homes mean new commercial activity with industrial plants to follow naturally."

Concrete Pouring

As soon as the contractors start pouring concrete on Division Two of the expressway, he believes, "people will wake up and realize what it's going to mean to them."

The expressway won't be finished for another year or so and White's prediction is somewhat

The famous $4,050 political escrow account recently transferred to the Lower Bucks Republican Association by County Commissioner Edward B. Boyer is still intact in the Central-Penn National Bank and will not be used in the May 16 primary election, William J. Veitch, assistant GOP County Chairman for Lower Bucks, said today.

Veitch said he will call a meeting of Lower Bucks members of the county Republican executive committee to decide what to do with the money.

Boyer put it in the special bank account after a jury acquitted him of extortion and bribery charges Jan. 31. It represents the unspent portion of some $7,000 received from three Lower Bucks discount houses last year.

Political Contributions

Boyer, in successfully defending himself, told the jury the money was freely given as political contributions. He was charged with demanding and receiving it for "immunity" from arrest for violating the Sunday Blue Laws. In acquitting Boyer the jury ordered him to pay the court costs.

"The one thing I am certain of," Veitch said, "is that the money will not be used in the primary election. It is up to our executive board to decide what will be done with it."

"I don't want to do anything that will create any further criticism of the Republican Party in Lower Bucks," Veitch added. "We won't be able to take much more vilification."

Refused Money

The county executive committee refused to accept the money. Boyer resigned from the executive committee after the controversy over the money and over the endorsement of a district attorney candidate and declared he is through with politics.

Veitch explained that the Lower Bucks Republican Association consists of all Republican leaders in Lower Bucks County and is governed by members of the county executive committee from Lower Bucks. He is its leader as assistant county GOP chairman for the lower end of the county.

The association succeeds the former Lower Bucks Republican Club, Veitch said. It became active in February and sponsored a dinner at which Boyer was principal speaker.

U. S. Rocket Blast Fails

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI) —A U.S. attempt to fire a space capsule carrying a "mechanical astronaut" into orbit ended today when the rocket booster blew up but the capsule was saved by an emergency escape system.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration announced 10 minutes later that the rocket was destroyed after about 40 seconds of flight, and that the spacecraft was separated from the booster by its escape system "which apparently worked satisfactorily."

The Atlas rocket blasted into the sky at 11:15 a.m. EST and disintegrated in a massive stream of fire and smoke less than one minute later.

As the booster came apart, however, emergency escape rockets jerked the one-ton capsule free and sent it rocketing into the sky well away from the explosion.

Parachutes opened up a few seconds later and eased the bell-shaped capsule back to earth.

This shot, America's first attempt to fire its space capsule into orbit, was to have paved the way for the free world's first manned space flight, possibly some time early next month.

The explosion ended what was to have been a full rehearsal for a flight of the same type that Soviet cosmonaut Yuri Gagarin made April 12. The U.S. had hoped to match the feat within nine months.

Park Action

Questioned

By Shenefelt

Arthur B. Shenefelt, Democratic candidate for Middletown Township supervisor, said today that the township Parks and Recreation board is planning an extensive parks development program without outlining to the public the scope or desirability of the program.

He said the development program could cost as much as $2,000,000 over the next 20 years if an estimate of a landscape architect is valid.

Shenefelt referred to a statement made recently by Lloyd G. Hughes, Yardley architect, being considered by the board as consultant on the project, that such an amount could be spent in developing the township's greenbelt areas.

The board's budget for 1961 is $29,600. Charles M. Melchior, township manager, said Hughes' statement should not be taken as an indication that the township was contemplating spending anywhere near $2,000,000 on parks and recreation.

Melchior said the first move will be to clean and grade the bottom end of Mill Creek and a stretch of Queen Anne Creek between Woodbourne and Newportville - Fallsington Roads.

Shenefelt said that the parks board should not consider such a sizable undertaking as greenbelt development without first "exhausting accepted methods of getting them before the public."

Free Advice

Referring to the board's plan to contract for the consulting services of a landscape architect, Shenefelt said: "Citizens will want to know why state, federal and other agencies have not been drawn upon for free advice before embarking on this program."

Shenefelt questioned whether the parks board included experts in the field of parks and recreation development.

"If not, why not?" he asked.

Mgr. Accuses GE President

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A former General Electric Co. department manager said today GE President Robert Paxton once ordered him to meet secretly with competitors to maintain high prices for electrical equipment.

Paxton immediately denied the charge and others made by the department manager Clarence E. Burke, before a Senate anti-trust and monopoly subcommittee.

Burke told Senate investigators that Paxton's order came in August or September, 1957, through an intermediary identified as W. B. "Pat" O'Brien.

Burke said O'Brien told him that Paxton wanted the meeting with competing companies to bring about "price stabilization" on switch gear equipment.

Burke, one of 16 GE executives who was found guilty last February of conspiring in a price-fixing plot, also said Paxton apparently condoned attempts to rig prices in the 1940's when Paxton was works manager of GE's transformer division in Pittsfield, Mass.

Terrenoire referred to the principal rebel leader as "ex-General (Maurice) Challe."

He said the Paris government was in direct or indirect touch with prefects—civilian district administrators—throughout Algeria except in the big cities of Oran, Algiers and Constantine.

He mentioned eight lesser committee whose prefects he said were maintaining liaison with Paris.

Soldiers, tanks and armored cars crossed the Rhine before dawn and drew up at the Strasbourg railroad station to entrain for Paris.

Graham Crusade Completes Plans For Counsellor Training Program

The Lower Bucks County Billy Graham Crusade Office announced today that plans for the Crusade Counsellor Training Program have been finalized and approved by the Greater Philadelphia Billy Graham Crusade Committee.

Lower Bucks clergymen have been recruiting members of their churches for the counsellor training for the past several weeks and approximately 1,100 names have been submitted to the Crusade Office.

The Rev. George Cole Jr., chairman of the Lower Bucks County counselling committee, stated that the recruiting of individuals for the program will continue until the first session is conducted the first week in May.

Seven-Week Period

Two evening classes and one day-time class will be held each week for a seven week period beginning May 2 and concluding June 15. The same lesson will be taught each week in each of the three weekly sessions allowing counsellors to attend the session most convenient for them.

The Tuesday evening class will be conducted in the Calvary Baptist Church, Green Lane, Bristol, 7:30-8:45 p.m. The day-time class will be held Wednesday mornings 10 to 11:15 o'clock in the Langhorne Presbyterian Church, Bellevue Ave., Langhorne, and the Thursday evening class will convene at 7:30 to 8:45 in the Emilie Methodist Church, Newportville Road, Levittown.

Testimonial Received

"Testimonials relating to the effectiveness of the counsellor Training program have been received from all sections of the world," the Rev. R. Walter Schenk, Crusade chairman, said, "and the course of seven lessons is Christ centered, scripturally presented, and theologically sound in every respect. The course will be simple and heartwarming and inspiring, and will do much for the people of all Church congregations."

The Counsellor training courses were prepared by Charles Riggs, director of counsellor training and follow-up for the Graham Crusades and are totally interdenominational in scope, the Rev. Schenk, said.

Invasion Of France Seen In Rebel Move

De Gaulle's position appeared to be growing stronger. His government had enough confidence to set off its fourth nuclear explosion deep in the French Sahara today despite the Algerian insurrection.

The Defense Ministry announced the troop recall but indicated it did not involve all of the French troops on duty under NATO command. It urged the people not to be alarmed despite the fact the country had gone through its second successive night invasion alert.

De Gaulle coupled the recall of troops with an appeal to the French air force to defy the rebel generals of Algeria and boycott their command.

Boistered by a massive demonstration of popular support at home, the President appeared to have weathered the first and possibly the gravest part of the crisis that threatened to capsize the Fifth Republic.

He named Gen. Michel Fourquet commander of all air forces in Algeria, and Fourquet issued the first top-level challenge from Algerian soil to the authority of the rebel generals.

"Officers, petty officers and soldiers of the French army, you have heard the orders of the chief of state," Fourquet said in reinforcing De Gaulle's orders for Frenchmen to resist the rebellion. "Your duty is clear. You cannot accept the blackmail to which you have been submitted."

De Gaulle was heartened by the arrival of 17 planes, including a B36 bomber, in southern France Monday. Their pilots said they took off when their airfield at Algiers was surrounded by the French Foreign Legion.

They said that when they left about 1,000 air force men were demonstrating support for De Gaulle.

The four generals who proclaimed the rebellion Saturday to "keep Algeria French" appeared to be maintaining their control over the main military centers of Algiers, Constantine and Oran but there was no indication their power was spreading.

French government sources said every hour was bringing new pledges of support for De Gaulle from field commanders in Algeria.

For the second night in a row airfields around Paris and other French cities were blocked by fire trucks and barricades to prevent insurgents from mounting an air invasion.

Thunderbolt Ready To Wail

Tullytown Borough will hear the Thunderbolt wail for the first time tomorrow night.

The Thunderbolt is a new type of air raid alert siren on loan to the borough Civil Defense Unit.

Its first sounds, at 125 decibels, will surge through the air at 9 p.m.

The siren is located atop the Top Value Redemption Center in the former Levittown Exhibit Center on Route 13. It was installed this week by the Bucks County Construction Company as a public service. The wiring of the siren will be completed today by Morris Electric, also as a public service, according to Mrs. Margaret Connor, borough CD director.

Statewide Drill

Mrs. Connor said Tullytown residents will be able to hear the Thunderbolt again this weekend when the borough CD unit takes part in a statewide test drill Friday and Saturday.

The Thunderbolt will announce the "alert" at 3 p.m. Friday; the "take cover" will sound at 4 p.m. and the "all clear" at 4:10 p.m. Saturday. The siren will sound at 2 p.m., Mrs. Connor said.

The CD director said all radio and television stations will go off the air Friday from 4 p.m. to 4:30 p.m. Residents should tune their A.M. radios either to 640 kc or 1240 kc, the CONELRAD frequencies for Civil Defense information.

LPRA Plans Interviews For Pool Jobs

The Levittown Public Recreation Association will start interviewing applicants for the positions as gate guards, life guards and park managers and assistant managers tomorrow.

Robert Whitman, LPRA director, said he has received 50 applications for the pool positions. This includes, he said, six who meet the qualifications. The rest are for the life guard positions.

In addition, he said, there are 25 applications for the 20 positions open as gate guards.

Application Deadline

Applications will still be accepted until Monday.

The appointments will be announced the following Monday, Whitman said.

The park manager and assistants are new positions. The managers will be in charge of programs at each of the five pools and park area. There will be a manager and assistant at each park. There will also be five or six life guards at each pool.

The pools will open May 27, Whitman said. He pointed out the LPRA is now conducting its subscription drive. He said Levittown families have until May 13 to take advantage of the $20 family discount rate.

Havana Radio Monday also made the most savage attack yet on President Kennedy, saying he had planned to witness the invasion of Cuba from an American warship.

He joined U. S. Steel at South Works in 1928 shortly after obtaining a B. S. degree in metallurgical engineering from Pennsylvania State University. He was superintendent of the No. 4 open hearth at South Works before transferring to Fairless Works.

In Good Condition After 8 Hurt In 3 Auto Mishaps

Two of eight persons injured in three automobile accidents in Lower Makefield Sunday night were reported in good condition today. The other six persons were not seriously injured.

Dr. Herman Cohen, 57, of 1210 Yardley Road, and Joseph DiGiorgio, Jr., 16, of 50 Central Ave., both of Morrisville, were reported in good condition by hospital spokesmen today. Both were involved in the same accident at 9:20 p.m. Sunday.

Cohen, driver of a car, which collided with a car driven by DiGiorgio, was admitted to St. Francis Hospital, Trenton, where he is being treated for cuts of the forehead and possible fractured ribs. The hospital said today no report is yet available on X-rays of the possible rib fractures.

DiGiorgio, son of a Morrisville police officer, suffered lacerations of the forehead, and is being treated at Mercer Hospital, Trenton. A hospital spokesman said today his condition is "good."

The less seriously injured, who were treated and released, are Gilbert Bush, 24, of 100 Bank St., Morrisville, a passenger in the DiGiorgio car, who suffered lacerations of the left arm. According to Lower Makefield police, DiGiorgio was turning left off of Yardley Road onto East Crown Road, Lower Makefield, when Cohen's car struck the left side of his car.

The DiGiorgio car was "a total loss," police said, while the Cohen car suffered $800 worth of damage.

Three persons were injured Sunday afternoon in a four car smash-up, when one car stopped to avoid a hole in the road in Lower Makefield and three other cars struck one another in a chain reaction.

According to Lower Makefield Police, a car driven by Edna Boyer, of 6117 Loretto Ave., Philadelphia, stopped on Route 532 at Stoopsville Road in Lower Makefield "to avoid a hole in the road."

Three cars piled into the rear of the Boyer car, police said. Stephen D. Band, 22, of 6345 Calvert St., Philadelphia, struck the rear of the Boyer car; a car driven by Harvey Mazer, 19, of 9954 Hardy Road, Philadelphia, struck the rear of the Band car; and a car driven by Steven Schwartz, 22, of 1135 McKinley St., Philadelphia, struck the Mazer car.

Injured were Mazer, who had lacerations of the left arm, a passenger in his car, Renee Smith, 17, of 661 Artwood Drive, Philadelphia, who suffered lacerations of the forehead, and Schwartz, who had a fractured rib. They were taken to Mercer Hospital for treatment.

Third Crash

About 15 minutes before the Cohen-DiGiorgio accident, two other cars collided at Yardley Road and Black Rock Roads in Lower Makefield.

A car driven by James P. Rupprecht, of 76 Julia Ave., and Sue Potter, 19, of Sandy Run Road, Yardley, collided. Miss Potter and a passenger in her car, Darlene Simmers, 18, of 740 West State St., were treated at Mercer Hospital and released.

This accident also occurred Sunday night.

Among 25 Indicted

Three Ft. Dix GI's Nabbed In Swindle

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UPI) — Federal agents today sought the last of 27 life insurance salesmen, soldiers and Army civilian workers indicted in a $15 million insurance swindle that netted them $600,000 in commissions.

FBI agents picked up 25 men and women within hours of their indictment yesterday. Among those arrested was Charles E. Berling, 49, of Indianapolis, a branch chief in the accounts division at the Army finance center here. Berling had been a civilian worker for the Army for 20 years.

Other arrests were made at Ft. Jackson, S.C.; Ft. Dix, N.J., and in five other states from Florida to Washington.

U.S. attorney Don A. Tabbert said the scheme worked this way:

Fake applications for $15 million worth of life insurance were forwarded by insurance agents to the Army finance center between August and December last year. Signatures on some of the documents were forged; others bore fictitious names; still others were signed unwittingly by soldiers.

The Army finance center forwarded insurance premiums to the insurance companies, which knew nothing of the scheme. The insurance companies paid commissions on the "new policies" to their salesmen.

Tabbert said the insurance companies were the only losers. The government already had recovered the $75,000 in premiums paid to the firms by the finance center, he said.

Since the "policies" were not processed through the finance offices at the individual Army camps, no deductions were made from the soldiers' pay, Tabbert said.

Those arrested in addition to Berling: —At Ft. Dix, N.J.: Sgt. Wallace Wilson, Sgt. George L. Choung, Sgt. IC Kenneth Thomas.

At Newark, N.J.: Helen Elizabeth Gee, Joyce Louise Powell.

At Seattle: Norman Thomas (described as an insurance salesman who formerly operated in the Ft. Dix area).

Shotgun Thief Sent To Jail

A Willow Grove man who was found guilty of robbing a Jamison couple at gunpoint Jan. 9 was sentenced to four-to-sixteen years in the Eastern State Penitentiary yesterday by Bucks County Judge John P. Fullam.

A jury returned the guilty verdict against Robert Sweeney, 20, a laborer at a convalescent home.

Sweeney denied the charges and said he could not remember where he was the night of the robbery.

Henderson and Kathryn Flack of Jamison said Sweeney held them up with a 12-gauge shotgun the night of Jan. 9 after they arrived home in their car.

He took them into their house, the couple said, beat the husband and took $80.

The convicted soldiers were dishonorably discharged from the service. The court's verdict and the sentence are subject to review.

DETROIT (UPI) — Dona'd E. Jameyfield, 17, had a novel excuse Monday when police questioned him on the cause of an accident involving a parked car.

U.S. Considering Embargo On Cuba

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The White House said today it has been considering clamping a total embargo on U.S. trade with Cuba.

No decision has been reached yet on whether to go ahead with the plan. But press secretary Pierre Salinger said failure of the anti-Castro revolt last week has sharpened consideration of the proposal.

He said such an embargo on shipments to and from Cuba has been under consideration for some time.

The embargo would hit the Cuban tobacco trade, which has been continuing at an annual rate of about $70 million a year despite the increasing deterioration of U.S.-Cuban relations. The United States cut off the Cuban sugar trade last year.

Most American shipments to Cuba were curbed last fall, except for certain foods and medicines.

Salinger made it clear he was referring only to shipments between the United States and Cuba, and was not talking in terms of a blockade which would impede shipments to Cuba from other nations.

FULL-SIZE DODGE DART

WHY YOU SHOULD BUY A DART INSTEAD OF A LANCER

... OR VICE-VERSA

COMPACT DODGE LANCER

There is only one decision you have to make when buying a new Dodge. Which size suits your family best, compact or standard? Dart, the car on top, is a full-size Dodge priced model for model with Ford and Chevrolet. The car on bottom is our new compact, the Dodge Lancer. The differences between these two Dodge automobiles are size; Dart is the larger, inside and out. Appearance; this you can see for yourself. And price; Dart, as we mentioned above, is priced car for car with Ford and Chevy. Lancer costs about the same (give or take a buck or two) as Comet, Falcon and Corvair. Outside of these differences, both cars are virtually alike. Why? We believe that differences in size, appearance, and price should not mean differences in quality. Both Dodge cars have a unitized body, rust-proofed by a seven-step dip and spray process. Both cars have a suspension system invariably called "the best in the business." It consists of chrome-steel torsion bars up front, off-center leaf springs at the rear, and Oriflow shock absorber at each wheel. This combination gives you precise control and a comfortable ride. All

STANDARD OR COMPACT
YOU GET A GREAT DEAL WITH

FREE TIE-CLIP IGNITION KEY to fit your present car. Worth an honest $2.50 at retail. You can get one for nothing by taking a ride in a new Dodge car or truck at any Dodge Dealer displaying the big "Golden Key" banner. Offer expires midnight April 30th, 1961.

Dodge cars have an alternator. Unlike a conventional generator, which it replaces, the alternator will supply electricity at engine idle speeds, even with the radio on. This means the battery is kept more fully charged, and will last much longer than usual. Optional on both cars is a three speed, automatic transmission, operated by handy push-buttons. We would like to point out, though the competition is loath to admit it, three speeds are more versatile, more economical than two. The full-size Dodge Dart is made in 23 models: sedans, hardtops, wagons, and a convertible. The compact Dodge Lancer comes in seven models; two 4-door sedans, a 2-door sedan, a 2-door hardtop, a Sports Coupe, and two 4-door wagons. Both Dodge cars offer engines that are prodigious savers of gasoline. Five V8's and an inclined Six in Dart. Two inclined Sixes for Lancer. Before you decide which car you'd like to own, have a talk with your Dodge salesman. Then pick the Dodge that fits you and your gang best. Whichever one you choose, you'll get it at the lowest price possible. It's a fact, standard or compact, you get a great deal with Dodge.
